Presentation: Verde Solar Power, Solar Options for Your Home

Greg Collins is the engineer behind the Verde Solar Power store in Cornville, working to spread photovoltaic panels across our valley.

With a background in avionics, he developed the first business jet navigation computer using GPS, then moved here to the Verde Valley 20 years ago to raise his family.

He has used solar power for over 25 years, 5 years of which were off-grid, and has installed dozens of residential systems locally.

His talk will educate you on various solar power options, the APS rebate program, the coming energy crises, and answer any of your questions.
